infinite multiple is a new model for making and collecting art:
an online platform selling unlimited editions at accessible prices allowing anyone to buy and own artwork

Website launch and exhibition opening

Friday 1st September 2017

at Carroll / Fletcher, London, 6-8pm

Exhibition continues 2nd-3rd September, 10am-6pm

Featuring

Developed and managed by a group of London-based artists and curators, the vision of infinite multiple is to widen the scope for owning and collecting art. The first set of 30 exclusive unlimited editions by 20 emerging and established artists will be launched online at www.infinitemultiple.com on 1st September, accompanied by a short exhibition at Carroll/Fletcher in London.

The works for sale span the breadth of contemporary art in the post-internet age, from the overtly political to the wittily observational and gently anarchic. Forms range from sculptures, objects and digital prints to a bookwork, woodcut and wearable artworks, including Santiago Sierra's NO armband from his NO global tour and Lizzie Hughes' scarf printed with satellite images of donutting tracks in the Nevada desert. Other works include Thompson & Craighead's circumnavigational white plate presenting a drawn arrow with the words 'HERE, 24,859 miles', Marcia Farquhar's grey painted souvenirs and David Cotterrell's lenticular print, playing with notions of distance using imagery from his time as a war artist in Afghanistan.

Prices for the artwork range from £20 to a maximum of £300, with 60% from each sale going direct to the maker. Collectors can choose to receive updates about artists' exhibitions, publications and other news, as well as invitations to special private events.
